MEET THE DE VEYRA FAMILY!

They Are Putting the Philippines on the Map in Washington

Hon. Jaime C. de Veyra, Who Has Just Been Re-elected as Philippine Commissioner to the U. S.

Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra. She Is Doing Important Work for Her People in America.

Permit us to present the De Veyra family.

The Hon. Jaime C. de Veyra is the Resident Commissioner from the Philippine Islands to the United States and has just been elected to a second term of three years. As Resident Commissioner he has a seat on the floor of the American Congress, the privilege of taking part in debates, although no vote.

Commissioner de Veyra has an interesting wife and four bright Filipino kiddies. The De Veyra family, individually and collectively, constitute the best argument as to the tact and capabilities of Filipinos that the Philippine Islands have in Washington.

The commissioner is a 100 per cent Filipino, a Visayan, and is one of the foremost leaders of the party in power in the islands. During American occupation he has been successively governor of his province, member of the Philippine legislature, cabinet member and executive secretary of the islands.

Like many statesmen of the Philippines, he was originally a newspaper man. He was one of the founders of El Nuevo Dia of Cebu, the first Filipino paper published advocating Philippine independence. The paper came under the censorship of General McIntyre, and on the appearance of the first number the editors were left in the singular position of seeing every prominent article blue pencilled.

Mrs. de Veyra, like her husband, is a "live wire" in the Philippines' cause. She is the best known Filipina in America. She is an interesting public speaker and is constantly giving illustrated lectures at women's clubs and other gatherings. Mrs. de Veyra is a publicity bureau all in herself and has put the Philippines on the map, so far as the women folk of Washington congressional circles are concerned.

"I find that the Filipino people have been much misrepresented in the United States," says Mrs. de Veyra. "I do not mean to infer we are perfect, for we are not. My people have most of the defects, I suppose, that other humans have, but at the same time we are far from the people that many Americans have been made to believe. Not only are we a Christian people, but our race has a history that we are not ashamed of. Throughout the Philippine Islands the people are now working earnestly to improve themselves and their conditions so they will be prepared to take over their own affairs. We all love America for giving us a chance to help ourselves and for having promised us our independence, which is one of the dearest desires of the entire citizenship of the islands."

To American women whose ideas of Filipinos have been f unded on Sunday supplement descriptions of wild tribes, Mrs. de Veyra's gentle manner and evident culture have been a revelation. She is sought by women's clubs because of her charming manner as an impromptu speaker on the subject nearest her heart—the women of her country.

At a recent Washington gathering she gave in perfect English a concise account of the work of a woman's club in Manila which supplies milk to the babies of the poor and trains mothers to care for their young children. She told of another woman's club which has branches all over the Philippine Islands and which maintains day nurseries for the children of the working women, provides Christmas cheer for the lepers, the insane and the convicts, and gathers data to influence legislation for the benefit of Filipino women and children.

The four little De Veyras, shown in the picture, having attended the public schools in Manila, slipped right into the same grades in the schools of Washington. Even little Mary, the baby of the family, speaks three languages—her native tongue, Spanish and English.

Trustees' Meeting

With Trustee elect Reardon and Bechdolt in their seats and the three old members present, the city Board of Trustees held an interesting session on Wednesday evening, May 5.

In announcing the appointment of the heads of departments (Commissioners socalled) President De Sabla read the following extract from Ordinance No. 1, adopted at the first meeting of the Trustees after the city was incorporated.

"At the beginning of each term the President of the Board of Trustees shall appoint the following committees to consist of one member each, who shall be known as Commissioners."

The assignments were:

Streets and Highways—F. R. Bechdolt.

Health and Safety—W. T. Kibbler.

Water and Light—T. B. Reardon.

Fire and Police—C. J Arne.

On the motion to adopt a resolution of intention to improve Ninth, Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues, Trustees Bechdolt and Reardon voted neither "Yes" nor "No" Nevertheless the resolution was adopted and ordered published. Those voting for adoption did so because the property owners had petitioned for the work, one of them not favoring the character of the work. The action of the non voting members was based upon objections to the specifications, being the same as those utilized for the work already done on six other streets, and containing no provision for drainage. Protests against the work will be heard on June 1.

There was much informal discussion concerning street work in general indulged in by the trustees and citizens.

The office of City Recorder having become vacant by the election of T. B. Reardon to a Trusteeship, J. W Hand was appointed Recorder. Hereafter it will be "Judge," not "Joe," Hand.

The Subsis Burst.

Young Tom was spending Christmas in the country and had been invited to the beautiful home of a sweet young thing named Agnes.

"What a charming place!" he said enthusiastically, to Agnes' proud parents. "Does it go as far as those woods over there?"

"It does," remarked the somewhat unsympathetic father.

"Ah," said Tom, still cheerily; "and to that old stone wall over there, sir?"

"It does," came the gruff answer; "and it goes as far as the river on the south, and to the main road on the north."

"Beautiful!" put in Tom.

"Yes," went on the old man, "but it doesn't go with Agnes!"

Then Tom faded peacefully from view.

A Post Mortem With a Kick

Carmel, Cal., May 10

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.

My dear sir:

Will you kindly make room in the Pine Cone for a voice from the tomb? Myself I am no upholder of post mortems. When two gentlemen, having carried their point at the polls and had the matter decided by the soverign people continued the argument in print, I considered the question of answer and decided that having been duly and politically slain I would better stay dead.

But with Sir Oliver Lodge and the Ouija board making us feel that messages from the other side are as much a matter of course as long-distance telephoning, I have been overtempted to come back.

In running for the office of City Trustee I assured myself that there was nothing personal involved; I would stand for street improvement without bond issue to provide it, and defeat would mean to me that the principle for which I stood was defeated, not the individual. A good theory. But after all, when Mr. Slevin quotes from the pre-election announcement of a defeated candidate, rebutting views which have already failed at the polls, he's certain to reach a human being and not an abstraction.

Seems a pity, too, for Mr. Slevin's views and mine on street improvement have but one letter of the alphabet difference. He says streets—and means street. I say streets—and mean streets.

As to upkeep; it's only the golden streets of the New Jerusalem that don't require keeping up. The property owners are paying for the streets; moderate but continual upkeep, such as our neighboring towns all have, will be required to keep them in order. Hollywood, Pasadena, all the suburban towns I've lived in lately, while of course they had a great deal of money to spend on permanent paving, and were spending it, kept their street mending gang going all the time. Being too proud to mend your streets seems to me a little like being too proud to wash your face.

But Mr. Beardsley, the other gentleman who followed the results of the election into print, gives me my first information of the real issue at stake. It seems that a candidate who was merely for street improvement' mistook what the contention was all about.

Mr. Beardsley speaks of the Marshal's having been harried. My good opinion of the man, and of the way in which he carried out those duties arranged for him, has not been adversely affected even by the election; though as a student of good government I am bound to admit a belief that it is improper for a uniformed police officer to take an active part in a political campaign. I do not, however, hold the Marshal to blame here, since in the late election it would seem he must have been working under orders or his vigorous and painstaking activities would have been stopped. I am not even influenced by the reports which friends and well wishers brought and bring me of his persistent and even violent attacks on me personally in the course of his campaign work. The polls have given us evidence that this activity of his was satisfactory to a majority of the taxpayers, who, in the last analysis, hire him and pay him his salary. I am a good enough believer in government by ballot to say what the majority wants is satisfactory to me.

GOV.-GENERAL OF PHILIPPINES FOR FREEDOM

Declares It Not Right That Freedom Should Longer Be Withheld.

By FRANCIS BURTON HARRISON, Governor-General of the Philippines. (First Article.)

Gov. Gen. Harrison

My six years' experience as governor-general of the Philippine Islands have convinced me that the Filipino people are ready and fit to have their independence. I have recommended to Congress, as well as to the executive administration, that independence be granted.

As to the question of the stability of government, I wish to say to the American people upon my responsibility as the governor-general that in my opinion there exists today in the Philippine Islands a stable government, which I think should answer the requirements laid down by Presidents Grant and McKinley, and as I understand it, also by Mr. Root—namely, a government elected by the suffrage of the people, which is supported by the people, which is capable of maintaining order and of fulfilling its international obligations.

I am very glad to go on record as being entirely in sympathy with the aspirations of the Filipino nation for independence.

I have recommended to Congress that in granting independence some provision be made similar to what is known as the Platt amendment in the treaty with Cuba, which restricts the ability of the new republic in borrowing of foreign governments and also permits the United States to interfere with the affairs of the new republic in case conditions of disorder should be found to prevail. Such recommendation does not come as an expression of the views of the Filipinos; it is my own view of what would be desirable to secure a feeling of confidence and satisfaction on the part of all persons who have already invested money in the Philippines or who contemplate doing so in the near future.

But it is not right that independence itself should longer be delayed.

By temperament, by experience, by financial ability, in every way, the 11,000,000 Filipinos are entitled to be free from every government except of their own choice. They are intelligent enough to decide for themselves.

I have found the native Filipino official to be honest, efficient and as capable of administering executive positions as any men I have met anywhere in the world.

These officials are today governing 1,000 municipalities and forty-two provinces, economically, efficiently and for the good of the entire people. They have a native congress, including many graduates of Yale, Princeton, Harvard and other American universities. Other members are graduates of Santo Tomas and other Philippine universities, and in education and ability they compare favorably with any I know.

They have leaders like Speaker Osmena of the House of Representatives and President Quezon of the Senate who would adorn any office.

The Philippines are away ahead of the United States in successful government ownership and operation of public utilities.

The government took hold of the steam railways and made them pay a profit of 1,000,000 pesos a year more than under private ownership.

Observe These Precautions Against Fire

Matches

Be sure your match is out before throwing it on the ground. Break it in two.

Tobacco

Throw pipe ashes and cigarette and cigar stumps in the dust of the road, and stamp out the fire. Do not throw them into needles, leaves or brush.

Making Camp

Make a small camp fire. Build it in the open — not against a tree or log or near brush. Scrape away anything burnable near it.

Leaving Camp

Never leave a camp fire alone, even for a brief time, without pouring water upon it and then covering it with earth. See 1919 hunting license.

Bonfires

Do not make bonfires when it is windy, or when or where there is the least danger of getting beyond control. Avoid making a larger fire than necessary.

Information

Keep in touch with the rangers. Ascertain the number of the district in which you are camping from United States forest rangers, county clerks or newspaper offices. Make a note of it on a calendar or memorandum book.

Come in and Look Around

The Wonders of America

By T T. MAXEY

THE HIGHEST HIGHWAY IN THE WORLD.

PIKE'S PEAK is, without question, the most-talked-of, most-written-about and consequently most-famous mountain in America. Fittingly indeed has it fallen heir to the name "Monument of the Continent," for it has played an important part in the history and romance of our fascinating and wonderful West. Now its importance as a landmark, situated on the dividing line between the great plains on the east and the mountain kingdom on the west, has been further increased, because of the ability of the public to ascend it comfortably and quickly and enjoy the panoramic view of five or six states which is visible from its snow-clad summit, 14,109 feet high.

The most marvelous highway building achievement of the age is the construction of an automobile highway from Colorado Springs and Manitou to the summit of this peak. The fearless thought that conceived and the daring which executed the work of building this, the highest highway in the world, absolutely stun the average individual. It is about 16 miles long, from 20 to 50 feet wide, smooth as a boulevard, and has a maximum grade of 10½ per cent.

While this serpentine road turns and twists and winds and zigzags up, to an elevation seldom reached in this world under any circumstances, the visitor is treated to indescribable views of illimitable space and into immeasurable depths and receives a series of new thrills and sensations. Looking up, one may see cars moving in opposite directions on different levels of this road, yet both are going the same way—up.

Musicians Desired

The Play Committee of the Forest Theatre has decided upon a new policy in regard to the important factor of music in the forest plays this summer.

Heretofore, music has been a separate problem in our plays. We have relied almost wholly upon professional players from the outside. In some instances the results have been satisfactory; in others, negligible.

There are many arguments against the importing of outside players. The two strongest arguments combine the practical and the sentimental. They are: First, with outside music, the production is not entirely local. Second, with outside music, we cannot secure adequate rehearsals.

It is essential to the success of the Forest Theatre plays that we should have more musical rehearsals than we have had in the past. Our musicians should rehearse with our actors at least ten days before the production. This is absolutely essential in such plays "The Yellow Jacket" and "Snow White," in which the music is an inherent part of the dramatic fabric. It is also essential (though less rehearsing is needed) in a Shakespearean production, such as the "Merry Wives of Winsor."

Success this season, therefore, cannot be obtained with imported musicians.

There is only one solution to the problem. We must have our own orchestra.

Carmel has musicians—professional and amateur. We have musicians of ability and talent. These talents should be used in the Forest Theatre productions. In addition, there is the whole Monterey Peninsula to draw from. It is the hope of the Play Committee that these musicians will volunteer their services. We have local actors, local scenic artists, local stage builders, local directors. What we need now, to reach our ideal of what a Carmel production should be, is a local orchestra.

Fortunately we have a leader who will accept the responsibility of organizing and directing such an orchestra.

This leader is Thomas Vincent Cator, one of the leading composers of California, and a musician and teacher of long experience. Mr. Cator is also a Carmelite in spirit as well as in residence. He will be with us this summer and direct the music at the Forest Theatre.

It is the earnest desire of the Play Committee that all local musicians will get in touch with Mr. Cator at once, so that the work of organizing and the beginning of rehearsals may proceed without delay. It makes no difference what instrument you play, or what experience you have had. See Mr. Cator as soon as possible. His address is Seventh Ave. and Dolores St.

CHANCES IN GAME OF LIFE

Must Be Winners and Losers, Since It Is Sure All Cannot Hold Equal Cards.

Life is like a game of cards. Some must win. Some must lose. It all depends upon the player and on the gambling chances that may favor or disappoint him.

All have the same gambling chance, so the player's ability really determines whether he shall be a loser or a winner. Assiduity, persistence, practice and patience all help to make him a winner, and the lack of these a loser.

Those who win make their gains at the expense of those who lose. There must always be winners and losers, the winners rejoicing and the losers disappointed, complaining and jealous of the winners.

How much like the experience of everyday life! Some succeed because of their diligence, earnestness and ceaseless ambition, others lose because of the lack of these winning qualities.

Some live in well-deserved ease and comfort on the proceeds of their success, others in discomfort, proclaiming that they suffer from injustice.

Everybody must play the game of life, and, like the game of cards, in the end every gamester must be a loser. Only the Grim Reaper is sure to be the winner in the end.—John A. Sleicher in Leslie's.

Curbs and Gutters

Carmel, Cal., May 10

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.

My dear sir:

The Primary is a thing of the past—the country is again saved—and now we return to our muttons.

Streets? Yes, Streets!

A few days since I rode over Dolores Street from Ocean Avenue to Santa Lucia Road. The work on Dolores appears to be well done; it was not, and for many reasons. The one great reason is that there has been no provision made for drainage.

Where is the water that drains into the streets from the east to go? Not a culvert on the whole job! When heavy rains come, what will be the result? Washouts.

What the streets of Carmel require is not simply grading—they need curbs and gutters.

The streets can be easily taken care of if drainage is provided. If concrete is too expensive, plank can be used to good advantage.

Having had some experience in civil engineering on railroad work, where drainage is the first consideration, and it appears to me that if the Trustees would consult with those who had ideas on the subject, better results might be attained.

Modestly thine,
A. H. Roseboom
